Spongebob's Vacation

Once Spongebob was getting ready to go on his vacation. He was packing his suitcase when Plankton jumped into it and hid there until Spongebob was ready to leave. At the bus stop he wondered where he was going to go when he got to the airport. After riding in a buses uncomfortable seat for two hours Spongebob said "I know where I'll go!" he said with excitement "I'll go to the Bahamas." After a long two hour bus ride he got off at the airport and said "My luggage feels about one pound more than usual." So in the airport lobby he unlocked his suitcase and found Plankton eating the only Krabby Patty he had in his luggage. About five minutes later he burst into tears saying "this is the worst vacation ever." In the end he missed his plane anyway so sadly he went home. But after all that he eventually went back to the Bahamas and had a great time with no disruptions. Eventually Spongebob got back Plankton by destroying the Chum Bucket. Spongebob was very satisfied.

The Krabby Patty

One day, under the sea in a little pineapple lived a little square yellow object that people called Spongebob Squarepants. He was a neighbor to the octopus named Squidward.

On a day in March Spongebob went on vacation to Hawaii. He got on his airplane but he didn't know Plankton was in his suitcase stealing Krabby Patties.

Just then he saw a jellybean shaped creature pop out. "Oh yes! I have the formula now you fool!"

"Now I will make my restaurant the best of the best. And you want to know something Spongebob?" "What?" "You can't stop me!"

"Ha, ha! You're funny Plankton." "Huh? What do you mean?" "Plankton, that is a fake Krabby Patty." "But, it has..." "Plankton! It is filled with air. Who is the fool now?" Plankton sat silently. "I'm the fool now Spongebob."

Then the plane turned around and they all went home. And Spongebob got Plankton to stop trying to steal the Krabby Patty formula. They all lived happily ever after since then.

Shontay, CA Frost

One beautiful day, while Spongebob was finishing packing the Krabby Patties in his suitcase, Plankton silently crept into the room and leaped up onto the bed and jumped into the suitcase. Spongebob didn't see him because he turned around to get a pair of undergarments from his drawer. After Spongebob was done packing Spongebob got into his giant Krabby Patty car and drove off. It took him 2 seconds to crash into Squidward's house. Spongebob backed up his smashed Krabby Patty car and drove off again. 2 Hours later Spongebob arrived, he was so excited to finally be at his dream place. The minute Spongebob opened his suitcase he found Plankton with the 4 Krabby Patties he packed earlier.

Boom bang crash, he was standing there in the middle of tragic war. He wanted to leave to go to his family, sit down by a warm fire accompanied by his children. He couldn't stop here it was too important!

The golden chocolate bar worth millions of bucks. He had to get it, it was like oxygen money, money, money! He was against thousands of people, the sound of fireworks filled his ears as bombs were being fired. A man of William had to get the bar too, well he was fighting for money too.

An army on one side, a group of people who need on the other. Now was his chance he could just slightly see a light far off from the distance, the other men were still shooting, but they would be too far for them to see him. He shot out like a rocket, his hands desperate to touch the smooth surface. Almost there, got it.

Everything stopped in the middle of action, the bar was gone. He won, the guy of need, the guy of wonder.

The Day I Will Never Forget

“Ready or not here I come!” It is the day that I will never forget. It was on a sunny December morning of 2006 when I learned a lesson.

Well on that day we were going swimming and I decided to jump into the deep end side slowly by slowly I sunk in the water me inside drowning calling for help but no one hears me swallowing the water and wondering what to do later on I hear hold on to the hook then someone jumping into the water and coming to rescue ME!

Since that day I have learned a lesson to never jump into deep end without someone next to me.

Once upon a time there was a man named Kevin. He lived in Alabama where another man named Maya lived. They were both at Meijer on Saturday May 6, 3017. Since the economy was very bad not much inventory was left in the store. And since chocolate was very popular it wasn't much left of it. Kevin and Maya were big fans of chocolate but there was only one left. It was in the middle of aisle 7 and Kevin and Maya stood east and west of it. They glared at each other in the eyes then immediately raced to get it. Once they finished beating each others minds out, they both touched the chocolate and realized it was a hologram. They both ended up dying slowly and painfully without any chocolate.

“Yaaawn.” Milly said. She looked at the clock. 8:30 in the morning. “I'll go get breakfast,” Milly said tiredly. She got out of her water bed and walked right into the fancy living room of her mansion. She slipped on her flowered spring dress and threw on a fuzzy fall jacket. When she left out of her door she got into her pink Porsche. Turned on her pop music and jammed all the way to the store. As she was driving she wondered about Dr. Draken the evil scientist. As you're probably guessed Milly has superpowers. Nobody knows but her. Milly got scared and thought about if the store still had lucky charms left. Suddenly Milly realized she wasn't paying attention to the road and bam! She hit another car. It seemed to be Dr. Draken's car. He got out and threw a freeze ray on her. It bounced off her car and froze Dr. Draken's car. She used fire to burn him. Then he threw a bubble lazer which would trap her in a bubble. The bubble caught Milly then got Dr. Draken. They fought and fought in the bubble but it popped right over the ocean. They fell into a certain death as a shark was waiting below for them. There was a ginormous splash. Then all the water where they splashed turned a dark red.

He looked on the rusted stove and saw his wallet and went to the store to get some milk for his candy bar.

"Okay but it may take some time!" said Ronald to his beloved wife! He grabbed the car keys to his Escalade off the marble counter and set off!

Lee and Ronald arrived at the store at the same time, both totally different. "Nice shirt" burped Lee apparently not caring of first impressions. "Thanks?" replied Ronald not sure he belonged in this part of town! So even though they were different they both ended up in the same aisle

Once there was a vampire named Lacey. She was a rare type of vampire, the type who only drinks animal blood. Instead of bright red eyes she had bright blue eyes. Also she had a gift. Her gift was that she could run faster than any vampire she knew. Lacey lived in a large house all by herself. She did not belong to a coven. She had no friends even though she went to high school. By the way she is only 16 years old.

One day Lacey was walking along when all of a sudden another vampire jumped out at her. She stopped. She was very surprised to see that this vampire also had blue eyes. Then the new vampire began to talk... "Hello. I'm sorry I startled you, but Leo the Royal Vampire is coming to kill all vampires that do not belong to his coven or guard... If I were you I'd be running... fast!!!" Lacey nodded then ran back to her house packed some of her prized possessions and left her house. She decided to run as far as she could and then stopped to "rest" and hunt.

At her resting spot she thought. She thought and thought and thought. Finally decided she was going to try and kill the Royal Guard.

One sunny March morning a lovely young lady named Lisa awoke to a sudden pounding on her door. She was so startled by the noise she fell out of bed. During which she bumped her head on the night stand. The loud pounding continued. BANG BANG BANG!... BANG. BANG. She scurried to the door, holding her forehead in one hand and the doorknob in the other. She found that the person banging on the door was red. His face was almost purple. She gathered her thoughts and realized it was the apartment manager, Mr. Milk.

"Good morning Sir." She was surprised but was still holding her head.

"Where is the rent? It's been days!" he said, almost screaming.

"I'm sorry?" she asked, confused. She could tell he wasn't in a good mood. Because she was usually Mr. Milk's favorite resident.

"The RENT! The thing you pay me, each month for living here!" Lisa could tell he wasn't trying to be funny.

"Sir I paid you last week." She was beginning to feel like a tiny mouse being confronted by a large lion.

"That was only half of what you owe."

"Oh I'm sorry sir. I will get it to you next week." She was trying to compromise with him.

"Not next week THIS week!" He put much emphasis on 'next' and 'this.'

"I'm sorry sir. I will see what I can do."

"You better, I need that rent soon." He was beginning to be calmer.

"Okay thank you. Have a good day."

"Good day." She shut the door and headed back to sleep.

Bring! Bring! rang the telephone. I fell off my bed getting up from the sound of the alarm clock's ring.

I looked in the mirror to see my face something was wrong there was a letter on the mirror. I exclaimed: to focus hard and point hand to the wall I hope you realize what you can do because I will have the sword! So I followed what it instructed I focused hard... I blew a hole through the wall!!

It must have been some galactic blue energy force.

I snatched the paper from the wall it had a map on the back it was in blue ink there was a red star to where the destination was. 5 hours later I was at the red star after going through tunnels wet tunnels. There was a guy there about 14,000 ft from him was a sword with a gem at the bottom. Fling! Flang! Pop! He flung red energy from his hand. I threw my blue energy at him I hit him and I knew I needed the sword. I ran towards it the man attacked me with his black energy at me it missed. I grabbed the sword he said leave that gem alone I bust the gem against the ground. Another dimension time capsule opened a huge giant chocolate bar came out and the bad guy flew in.

It was all over and I had a big fat belly full of chocolate. I've lived my life secret in Tokyo, Japan ever since.
